There are simply too many people on this app who have fallen too deep into the head canon of the character Dabi. I understand AUs and head canons are fun, but if it begins to get in the way of how you actually view these characters, we begin to have a problem.

The main three points I would like to address today are
1. Dabi's ability to be "a good boy anyone"
2. Dabi will come for his family
3. "Dabi can be atoned just like Endeavor"

Note: Dabi and Endeavor are some of my fav chars. This is not an anti-dabi post.

Dabi's sign of complexity, and culpability. Is Endeavor responsible for the actions of his son or vice-versa? Here for can contributes history stretch to determine who is to blame for another persons actions?

AH! I'M SORRY! I'M NOT A MORTICIAN!
